

Dusky-Footed Wood Rat

(Neotoma fuscipes)

These rats build their nest by laying down branches and sticks and then adhering them together with their own scat.

They disguise the scent of their den with plants, usually some sort of strong-smelling plant such as sage.

