CA Natives Series

Greater Roadrunner (Geococcyx californianus)

Roadrunners get their name because of their preference for running over flying. They can run up to 15 miles an hour. They are great for pest control, as they forage for anything from snakes to mice.